Leubrie's Theater. Sharps and Flats was the attraction pro-duced at the Theater last night by Robson and Crane, supported by a good company. It you wish to laugh, a visit to the Theater will bring about the desired result, Sharps and Flats relates to the doings of the stock market in San Francisco, Robson enacts one "Cutler Sharp," an old hand in stocks, and "Cutter Sharp," an old hand in stocks, and recognizes in "Dullstone Flat" an "idealistic" clergyman, the legitimate prey of "the stock people." "Flat" is cultivated, and his infatuation is fed with glistening calculations. To carry out the plans, "Sharp" insists that "Flat" must smoke his "first cigar," drink and provoke scandal and fight a duel, drink and provoke scandal and gut a duci, all to achieve recognition as a speculator. Robson is fully himself as "Cutler Sharp," the broker. His acting is in excellent contrast to Crane's "Dullstone Flat." The company is well balanced, comprising Misses Agues Proctor, Annie McKeepin, Mary Myers, Grace Thorne and Messrs. F. E. Ambrose, W. S. Lipman, Richard Dillon, F. Burbeck and John Marble. The audience last night enjoyed to a high degree the very amusing performance. Sharps and Flats will be re-peated to-night. To-morrow night the Comedy of Errors will be the attraction. Friday night Our Bachelors; Saturday matince, Sharps and Flats, and Saturday night Champagne and Roller Skating. Last night Prof. Levy opened his new tating rink at 93 Adams street, east of Third street. A very large crowd of young people was in attendance and enjoyed the exhibitions of fancy skating were given. The "rink" will become a popular place of amusement, not only with the young, but with those of more mature age. It will be open in the morning, afternoon and night.

B. F. OLIVER, R. S. Who is Mrs. Winslow? As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who for upwards of thirty years has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a female physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and phy-sician, she has compounded a Soothing Syr-up for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In conse-quence of this article, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her, especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syru are daily sold and used here. We think Mrs. Solid for Mulitooly is the title of a volume just issued by G. W. Carleton & Co., of invaluable article, and we sincerely believe sands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that CONJURER'S REMARKABLE DISEASES He told me to stand my donkey with his Sleep for Six Months and a Four Years' Succession of Ten-Day Fasts.

New York World: Mr. M. Hartz, the connew fork World: Mr. M. Hartz, the con-jurer, has just recovered from a disease which for three years and eight months rendered him helpless and part of the time speechless and blind. After selling the shop on Broad-way near Wallack's, where he sold apparatus for conjuring, he set out in August, 1877, on a trip to South America. In the beginning of May, 1877, he was obliged to stop his per-formances and was brought back to this city, arriving on June 20th. He lived four weeks in the house of a relative, during which time he became helpless. Then he was taken to a boardinghouse in Fifth avenue, where he was kept a year; then to a house in Brooklyn, where he lived nine months, and lastly to a house at Mount Kisco, where and lastly to a house at Mount Kisco, where he remained till a week ago. According to his account of his disease, he lost power of action almost entirely; his skin became flaky and so soft that the slightest touch caused him infinite pain. He became unable to speak, could not open his eyes, except for a wink, and the flesh wasted away from his arms and the calves of his legs, though his body grew slightly stouter. He could not bear to see any light, and his sense of hearing was rendered wonderfully acute. While in Brooklyn his room was on the third floor in the rear, and the was on the third floor in the rear, and the dining-room was in the front basement. He says that he was able to hear every word of the stories going about the prints and the spoken in the dining-room. He says his hotels are false, and I presume most of them memory also became so retentive that he could repeat all the conversations he had could repeat all the conversations he had heard in three years. A footstep seemed as loud as the detonation of a cannon, and he waited with dread for hours beforehand for the report of the sunset and sunrise guns on Governor's Island. He was not able to swallow always, and he says he frequently expected to die from that cause. Sometimes as many as sixteen days passed without his drinking. He also ate very little, fasting on an average ten days at a time. His sense of taste was entirely gone, and he is only beginning to recting the latter to awake him whenever he appeared to sleep. This occurred only a few times. His beard grew to a length of eighteen inches and his hair reached to his what I hear, concluded my informant, "he is noulders. His recovery was more sudden a good deal bothered. His wife, daughter and the attack. One morning two weeks ago than the attack. One morning two weeks ago strength came to him to get up, and an hour later he was able to do feats of strength that his attendant, a six-footer, was unable to has stepped over the line I can conceive that has attendant, a six-noter, was infance to perform. His skin is still tender and his flesh resembles putty or a bursted rubber ball, in that it retains for some time a depression after it has been depressed. During the attack he had no second-sight experiences; but his wife remarked cynically that he knew all about second-sight.

New York Truth: Colonel Dan Rice says that the following composes the four princi-pal regrets for mistakes made during his ventful life: 1. Learning Miss Adeline Patti to swear, when she was a little girl in New Orleans, during the time I was teaching her horse-2. That I did not, for my country's good, buy up the delegates to the national conven-tion that nominated Governor Seymour for President, when my representative tele-graphed me I could get the nomination for 3. Encouraging little boys in early time to steal under my tent to see the circus. Experience has proven I was morally wrong, from the fact that when they grew up I had or they would steal the tent. 4. That I had not over forty years ago fol-lowed the advice of John Nowland Maffitt, a great revivalist, to become a minister of the

A Down-East Miracle. Cincinnati Enquirer: A miracle is reported from Calais, Maine, which John Robinson, of that town, thus describes: "My little girl, only seven years old suffered every hour, night and day, with St. Vitus dance, so that she had to be watched constantly to prevent her falling on the stove or dishes. The physician attending her said she must be sent to the hospital at Augusta. I related the case gospel instead of a minister of fun.

He told me to stand my donkey with his head to the south, then seat the child on his back with her face to the east, and then to pass her over the donkey's back toward the west, saying: 'In the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost.' Following his instructions, I did this for nine mornings, before breakfast. On the third morning the child began to improve and the donkey to take the disease. From that time to the end of nine days the child rapidly grew better and the donkey to grow worse until it died on Monday, 10th, after great suffering. The child is now perfectly restored." This story ought to be of great interest to the marines.
